COPYRIGHT All photographs must be and will be assumed by the Droughtmaster Society to have been submitted by the owner of the copyright (This is usually the person who took the photograph). Submission of the photograph means that the Droughtmaster Society will consider whether the photograph is worthy of a prize. The entrant agrees that consideration by the Society is of value to the entrant. In exchange for that consideration the entrant grants to the Droughtmaster Society, from the date the Society receives the photograph, a license to use the photograph or any part of it as if the Society were the owner of the copyright in the photograph. That license is unconditional and extends for as long as the Society requires it. The Society is not obliged to pay to the entrant, or any subsequent owner of the copyright in the photograph, any license fee or charge. Whenever the Society exercises any of its rights under the license it will endeavour to, but is not obliged to, attribute the name of the entrant as the person who took the photograph.
